

Are you really loving me?

It was a beautiful day and so were you.

Flowers in your hair,
looking like flames in the summer sun.

In your mind there's no fear,
she's wild and free, having fun.

You're far away from earth,
away in dreams, in dreams with me.

Are you really loving me?

Are you really loving me?

Are you really loving me?

Are you really loving me?

Never seen a face like yours before.

Never seen such a smile.

How many days shared we?

Let's drift away for a while.

Hear your voice around me.

I want to stay forever right there.

Don't you feel I really care?

Are you really loving me?

Are you really loving me?

Are you really loving me?

Are you really loving me?

How I enjoy the time with you,
being next to you, feeling your skin.

Can you feel my heart beating, too?

Your lovely face, in front of me.

Somebody like you, I've never seen before in my overcrowded life.

Miles away you seem to be.

Are you really loving me?

Are you really loving me?

Are you really loving me?

Are you really loving me?

How should I know?

Tell me, tell me how.

Cause you never, no you never,
said to me, to me,
to me ...